CARS ARE BARRED FROM BIG SECTION; NEW PARK PLAN

PLANNING COMMISSION SUGGESTS PURCHASE OF MOLE LAND.
IS 30-ACRE TRACT

Council Passes Auto Parking and Saloon Licensing Laws Unanimously.

Passage of the long-standing auto parking ordinance, a proposal for the city to buy the Mole property for a public park, and adoption of an ordinance relating to saloon licensing, were the three items on the agenda of the regular meeting of the city council Monday night.

Mayor T. E. Welsh confined to his home with illness, Ald. J. J. Dulin, president of the council, acted as chairman. The meeting adjourned at 11 p. m. after a big volume of business had been cleared off the boards.

Parallel Parking Provided.
The new parking ordinance will take effect Saturday following its publication in the Gazette for three successive days. It provides that no cars shall be parked on Milwaukee street, from Bluff to River street, in the present 100 foot zone at Main and Milwaukee intersections; nor within 50 feet of a fire hydrant. Parallel parking only is provided for all other streets upon which the street-cars operate with the exception of Main, from Court to North Dick, where parking at right angles will be permitted.

Signs will be erected to mark the zones. Chief Justice Charles Newman urges the public to become familiar with the ordinance so that it can be put into full operation Saturday with a minimum of trouble.

C. of C. Plan Turned Down.
Efforts of the special Chamber of Commerce committee to establish a 30-minute time limit for parking were turned down previous to passage of the council's new ordinance prepared after months of study.

This ordinance is plenty good enough as a starter, several of the aldermen declared.

New Park Plan, Surprise.
Receipt of a proposal from the city planning commission using steps toward the purchase of a 30-acre tract along the river bank in the first ward for a city park came somewhat of a surprise to many who had not known the commission had been working on this plan since the spring of 1919.

For this reason, the council agreed with Ald. A. J. Gibbons, park committee chairman, that the matter be laid over two weeks to permit of a thorough investigation by every member of the council.

IS 30-Acre Tract.
The tract which it is hoped to purchase lies just south of Riverside park, on the east bank of the river. It contains approximately 30 acres which it is proposed to buy at a price not to exceed $150 per acre. The county court approves of a contract with the heirs of the C. & N. W. tracks, the Evansville "cut-off."

MOTORISTS! HERE ARE FINAL RULES ON AUTO PARKING

NO PARKING ZONES.
Milwaukee street — Bluff to River.
South River street — 65 foot zone on north side, opposite fire station.
North and South Main streets — 100 feet from Milwaukee intersection.

No parking within 50 feet of fire hydrant or water fountain.
PARALLEL PARKING ONLY.
On all streets or portions of streets where street cars or trolleys operate, except North and South Main streets where regular parking is allowed from Court to North First, Court and Pleasant streets — Main to River.

DEVIATIONS.
An auto is "parked" when it is left unattended for any length of time or, attended, for more than 15 minutes.

This time limit does not apply to Milwaukee street, from Main to River. No vehicle shall be stopped thereon for longer than actually necessary to discharge or take on passengers actually waiting.

The ordinance is understood not to prevent stopping when necessary to unload or take on merchandise in non-parking district.

The penalty for violation is $1 to $25.

The big feature of the night will be a grab bag. This has been filled with donations by merchants and others. Grabs will be 10 cents each and the proceeds, together with the money taken from the sale of refreshments, will be used to make possible free band concerts this season.

The entire purpose of the dance is to raise money for the city hall band. The dance will be in various parts of the season in the summer and several indoors during the winter.

$1,000 FINE GIVEN AFTER BIG LIQUOR RAID BY NEW CHIEF

RENNE DRAWS LIMIT SENTENCE—CHOSES 6-MONTHS' TERM.

14 PINTS FOUND

Fourteen pints of moonshine whiskey were seized by Chief of Police Charles Newman and patrolmen in a raid of the "soft drink" establishment owned by George Renne, 506 West Milwaukee street, shortly after 3 p. m. Monday.

Pleading guilty to two charges in municipal court Monday morning, Renne was given the limit sentence of $1,000 and costs or six months in the county jail. He chose the latter.

The two charges were made under the new prohibition law by Dist. Atty. S. G. Dunwiddie—purchase of intoxicating liquors, and having intoxicating liquors in a "soft" drink establishment.

Another held for trial. The Renne case was the feature of three prohibition actions which have come before Judge H. E. Block in the past 24 hours. Activity on the part of Chief Newman and his men indicates a determined desire to rid Janesville of the bootlegger and the gluttonous coast.

The second liquor case in municipal court Tuesday morning came when Stanley Kosowski, arrested while intoxicated, was arraigned on a charge of having purchased liquor. He was given a preliminary examination and bound over for trial August 10. Bond was fixed at $300.

Snively is convicted. The third case was heard by a nine-man jury in municipal court Monday afternoon, which after three hours' deliberation, returned a verdict of guilty in the case, having found that the defendant, Harold Peterson, had sold liquor to Harold Peterson, E. H. Ryan prosecuted the case for the state with P. J. E. Wood defending Snively.

Snively will be sentenced by Judge Maxfield, Wednesday morning. The jury in the Snively case was composed of Eugene Fish, Harold Taylor, A. J. Gibbons, C. J. Smith, Frank Albrecht, F. C. Boerdt, Eben Arthur, William Brockhaus, and Charles Snyder.

Witnesses for the state were: I. W. Snyder, Charles Harmon, Harold Peterson, Joseph Myers and Thomas J. Morrissey. Snively, together with Mrs. Arthur Bohman and the defendant, Peterson, testified for defense.

TURK DRIVEN FROM CAPITAL IN ASIA MINOR BY GREEKS

WEDGE DRIVEN INTO LINES BY HELLENIC OFFENSIVE.

Three Quarters of Ottoman Army Killed, Wounded, Prisoners, Report.

London. — The Turkish nationalist government, owing to the successful Greek advance in Asia Minor, has been obliged to transfer the seat of its government and the Turkish nationalists assembly to Sivas, according to Constantinople dispatches to the Exchange Telegraph company.

OUT OF FIGHTING, REPORT.
Athens. — An announcement by the Greek official agency late Monday said the Turkish losses in killed, wounded, prisoners and missing, amount to 75 per cent of their entire fighting strength in Asia Minor.

The statement claims the Greeks have driven such a wedge into the Turkish nationalist lines that the nationalist forces at Angora, the capital on the northern branch of the railroad, have been cut off from those at Koniah, on the main line of the railway, 150 miles to the south. The statement said:

"The Turks lost heavily in the last 10 days of fighting which resulted in the occupation of Eskishehr and the retreat of the Turks. The enemy lost more than three quarters of his forces in guns and men killed and wounded, prisoners and deserters. The greater part of the Turkish divisions lost most of their effectiveness."

WOUNDS FATAL TO EAU CLAIRE CHIEF

Bloodhounds and Airplane Will Trail Slayer of Police Officer.

Eau Claire. — Bloodhounds and an airplane will aid a score or more citizens in their search Tuesday for the man who, after obtaining $1,000 in a robbery Monday, shot and fatally wounded Eimer Sundby, chief of police.

The loot was obtained from Evan Evans, clerk for the Wisconsin-Minnesota lumber company, and was taken from the store on Monday. The bloodhounds were brought from Mauston and the airplane came from St. Paul, at the request of Sheriff La Follette.

Chief Sundby was leading a posse at the time he was shot. Breaking into the woods along the Chippewa river, Sundby found the fugitive, fired two bullets, striking Sundby, running through a shower of bullets, the robber reached the river, where he swam to safety on the opposite side and has since eluded pursuers.

Chief Sundby was appointed to the police force in 1908 and in 1910 was made chief.

The nationwide search for the missing president was continued Tuesday with authorities devoting more attention to the theory that he may be headed for the Mexican border rather than for the Canadian line.

Governor Subject to Arrest, Word of Illinois Judge

Springfield, Ill. — Judge Smith, in his opinion Tuesday on the question of the arrest of Governor Small for embezzlement, held that warrants should be served on the governor but that the executive should be permitted to make his appearance at his convenience within a reasonable time. The judge, in his opinion ruled:

That there is no such thing as the divine right of kings and that the king is subject to arrest and prosecution for his acts as state treasurer.

That the statutes of limitations would expire through any prolonged delay in securing warrants on the governor.

That it is not the duty of the court to withhold warrants for the governor.

That Governor Small should be permitted voluntarily to present himself before the court.

Notification of Governor Small by telephone was the method of procedure decided upon by Sheriff Nestor.

"I may go over for an interview with the governor later," Sheriff Nestor said. "No attempt will be made to embarrass Governor Small. The order of the court explains how the matter will be handled."

PRESIDENT URGES RAILWAY RELIEF MOVE IN MESSAGE

WOULD PAVE WAY TO QUICK ADJUSTMENT, CONGRESS TOLD.

NO NEW EXPENSE Would Use Available Funds to Buy Securities and Pay Roads.

Washington. — President Harding, in a special message to congress Tuesday, asked it to extend the authority of the war finance corporation to purchase securities, probably up to $500,000,000 now in the hands of the railroad administration, so the proceeds may be used for settlements with the railroads.

This the president told congress would open the way to "early adjustment and relief" of the railroad problem. There was no thought, he said, of asking congress for additional money.

Railway claims, based on the "inefficiency of labor" during the war, the president said, were to be waived for the present to hasten settlement without surrender of "any" rights in court. Although the railroads were the government's large sums, the president said, the government also owed the railroads large sums on various accounts.

"No added expense," said the president, "explaining his request, 'no added investment is required on the part of the government. There is no added liability, no added tax burden.'"

"Use Available Funds." It is merely the grant of authority necessary to enable a most useful and efficient government agency to use its available funds to purchase securities and pay the railroads, he said, authorized the issue, and turn them into channels of finance ready to float them.

"The contract covering operations provided that the railroads should be returned to their owners in as good condition as when taken over by the government, and the transportation act recognizing that betterment and improvement belong to the railroad account, provided such sums as the government for betterment and new equipment, added during the period of government operation, must be refunded."

"There has been, at no time, any question about the justice of funding such indebtedness to the government. Indeed, it has been a matter of a measurable degree ever since the return of the railroads to their owners. It has been limited, however, to such cases as those in which time and circumstances have been effected. The process is admittedly too slow to meet the difficult situation which the owners of the railroads have been faced with. I believe it essential to restore railway activities and essential to the country's good fortune to hasten both funding and settlement."

"Quite apart from the large sums owing to the government, which we are morally and legally bound to fund, the government admittedly owes the railroad companies large sums on various accounts such as compensation, depreciation, and maintenance."

"The way now would seem to be clear for early adjustment of the railroad problem. The fact that the railway administration, though possessing assets, does not command the funds necessary to meet what will be its admitted obligations, is a matter which should be asked congress for additional funds. Perhaps $500,000,000 will be necessary. The railroad administration has on hand ample securities and bonds, but it will have in the program to meet all its obligations. It is the duty of congress only to grant the authority to negotiate these securities and provide the agency for their negotiation."

AID IN REGULATING PEDDLERS, IS PLEA

Make Them Show License Cards, Warning of City Officials.

Before ordering anything from a peddler, be sure he is equipped with state and city licenses. This is the advice of city officials and police to the public generally, and housewives in particular. Within the past few months, Janesville has been combed by unlicensed peddlers of many of whom have delivered articles on the spot, a violation of the state laws. Many who have given a dollar or more for a peddler's wares, have been helped by a poor system by which through college have been waiting months for the first installment of the magazine. "The best thing to do before buying of a peddler," said City Clerk E. J. Sartell, Tuesday, "is to see that he is properly licensed. Housewives should either call the police station or this office and let it be known in what district the man is soliciting. The matter of licensing was brought to the front when Constable William E. Dulin took charge of a man who drove a team through the residence districts Sunday selling ice cream cones without a license. "This man no doubt was in the wrong," said Mr. Sartell, "but it least was giving people their money's worth. What the people ought to do is to cooperate in catching the ones who take their money without giving anything in return."

Ten thousand soldiers who wore the red arrow during the Great War are expected to take part in the national peace activities in the same uniform that mopped up mud in the Argonne. The financing of the reunion is being taken care of by a committee of Michigan citizens headed by Governor A. L. Groesbeck, and Mayor James Couzens, Detroit. Division Headquarters have been established at 800 Lafayette Blvd., Detroit, by Col. Edward G. Heckel and Major Charles D. Kelley, the national president and national secretary of the 32nd division veteran association.

TO ELIMINATE SEWER TROUBLE DOWNTOWN

Matters of health and sanitation occupied the attention of the city council for some time Monday night. City Engineer C. W. Kerch assured no reduction on the part of the city would be necessary to eliminate unhealthful conditions arising from lack of sewerage on West Milwaukee street, between Jackson and High streets, as had been complained of by A. G. Metzinger. "Before we paved South Jackson street we provided for a sewer stub near the north end," said Mr. Kerch. "We are now planning on plans to connect up this old private sewer in the alley with Jackson street. I am sure the trouble will be done away with by the property owners themselves."

MERCHANTS TO ASK MINIMUM RATES FOR STREET SPRINKLING

Upon the declaration by Mayor Thomas E. Welsh that a conference Monday morning with a committee from the merchants' bureau of the Chamber of Commerce that the city has no money with which to clean the streets, the merchants agreed to discuss adjustment of sprinkling rates. At a recent meeting of city council, the merchants petitioned against the use of the street flusher for sprinkling the business streets during the day and charging them for the service.

"I am willing to concede that the sprinkling is practically a joke," Lucian O. Holman, manager of the Chamber, quotes the mayor as having said in Monday's conference, "but it is the only way that we can get money to clean the streets." Sprinkling the streets and charging the merchants for it gives the city the means to collect additional revenue outside of taxes, Mayor Welsh is quoted as having said. According to Manager Holman, the merchants are willing to pay a minimum rate rather than not have the streets cleaned at all.

The next conference may be held Friday with the highway committee of the city council. At that time, it is hoped to work out an equitable rate.

JAPS LIMIT TOPIC OF DISARM MEET

Accept Invitation of Harding, but With Cautious Proviso.

 Copyright, 1921, by Jamesville Gazette.

Washington, Japan is ready to accept American invitation to participate in the disarmament conference. In accepting the invitation Japan does not bind herself to discuss anything which she wishes to exclude from the conference, such as questions relating to Shantung or Yap, or other matters which Japan may consider to have been closed by the time the conference begins.

These statements from officials of our government who are in touch with Japanese officials, indicate that Japan is ready to accept the invitation to participate in the disarmament conference. In accepting the invitation Japan does not bind herself to discuss anything which she wishes to exclude from the conference, such as questions relating to Shantung or Yap, or other matters which Japan may consider to have been closed by the time the conference begins.

Our government originally asked that no matters informally be invited to a disarmament conference would be acceptable. This is diplomatic way of avoiding a direct turn-down. The informal invitation was postponed to the 28th. J. E. Hayes will cooperate with the county agent.

The exact phraseology used and the principles enunciated. Secretary Hughes is anxious to get at that part of the business as soon as Japan's acceptance is here within the next 24 hours. We will begin to draft a program of suggestions.

The Japanese consider themselves racialists of any other race and to put them on a declaration on the subject might seem to be expressing a doubt whether such a right of equality is actually possessed. Japan claims more in the one than by assuming that she is the racialist of any other nation and insisting upon rights of equality than by raising the subject in a world conference. It would be the same. If the United States or any other power patronized a world conference to declare that America was a sovereign state.

The chances are that notwithstanding some efforts that are being made to belittle the disarmament conference with extraneous questions before it begins, the Japanese will confine their attention to matters of common interest to all nations, and will not be dealt with by direct agreement between the individual powers vitally interested.

Domestic Question.
 The American government holds that immigration is a domestic question and as such hardly debatable. Its economic and not political aspects are emphasized. The last immigration bill has revealed the desire of the American government to protect its workers from cheap labor of all races and that right of laboring protection will not be submitted to an international conference by the Harding administration.

Now that Japan is ready to enter the conference, the next step is the

He readily paid the fine and he had hit around 50 miles per hour in his hurry to get back to Camp Grant in time. He was fined $10 and costs.

EDGERTON PAVING COST $1.89 YARD

County Figures to be Checked Before Board Report.

The Jamesville-Edgerton concrete highway built by the county this year, this far has cost $1.85 per square yard, according to figures compiled and submitted to Highway Commissioner Charles E. Moore. The figures will be checked by the state engineers in time for a report before the county board meeting August 2.

This cost is low compared to the lowest bid submitted last year for the work, $1.89 per square yard with the county furnishing the cement. According to the statement Tuesday the per yard cost covers all expenses of sub-grade, the surfacing and cement.

Build All of Road
 It is now planned to have the county construction force lay the final stretch of pavement north of Rock river near Indian Ford to the city limits of Edgerton. For a time laying of this work on a contract was considered.

There is still 2.7 miles of pavement to be laid before the road is complete to Indian Ford. A change is being made in the concrete machinery to the Co. farm pit, the last set-up necessary on this road job. The force has averaged 500 feet a day for July and there will be a change of five or six days to change the pit machinery and make ready for pouring.

Finishing/Gravel Roads
 The county contract work for gravel and crushed rock road is now about complete. No work may be ordered by the county board during the coming meeting. One additional re-surfacing job is to be done by contract on the Milton road from the city limits to the fork east of Jamesville.

Commissioner Moore declared that the county would have the Edgerton road complete and connecting with the Edgerton city pavement the last

"I feel confident that business conditions all over the world, with very few exceptions, are slowly improving," says Thomas P. Ryan, well known financier, who recently sailed for Europe on business. "In the United States orderly but persistent liquidation has been going on for many months. Our merchants are buying only what they can sell quickly for cash. The consumers have had to listen to so much pessimistic talk that they buy only what is absolutely necessary for their daily wants. People everywhere have been scared. They are getting over that. Our people are the greatest consumers of food and manufactured products in the world in normal times—and normal times are slowly coming back."
"While the labor question is a difficult one, there are many signs which show that union as well as non-union laborers are willing and honestly trying to do their part in the readjustment process which is going on. I hope the standard of living and the pay of the working man will never reach the low pre-war level. To force that would be a very bad thing for everybody. The evils created in seven years largely by a disastrous war cannot be corrected in a few days, but a spirit of determination and co-operation on the part of all will help prosperity much sooner than most people think. I also feel hopeful because President Harding has put on his overalls and is determined to use his great power and influence in the readjustment and the settlement of foreign and domestic questions which so vitally affect the prosperity of all our people."

FORESTS AND COMMERCIAL SUPREMACY.
Business men of this country are paying millions of dollars a year in freight bills because the center of the lumber industry is getting farther and farther away from the points of greatest consumption, the nation's factory centers. We must have a national forest policy that will put the idle acres in the middle west and in the East to work growing trees. In considering a national forest policy we must consider a disease. That disease is forest devastation, the American Forestry Association points out. Its effect is a slow sapping of national strength—through the steady exhaustion of the national timber supply. The effect will be almost fatal when, through the shortage and high cost of timber, the United States is reduced to the level of western Europe, when wood is priced as an imported luxury, when not only manufactures and trade are handicapped by lack of it but the comfort of our own people and the efficiency of our agriculture are straitened by its scarcity.
It is unthinkable that the United States will accept the necessity of curtailing largely, sooner or later, its use of timber. Abundance of wood for home and farm use, for varied manufacturers and for export trade has been a primary factor in our commercial supremacy, so important right now, and it is a factor which we are not going to surrender. The problem must not be met by using less and less wood, down to the level of civilized existence, as France has been compelled to meet it. It must be met by increased production. The Association well argues. It must be met in the American spirit of development, of enterprise, of an organized and far-sighted handling of our resources that will supply the future requirements of a continued liberal use of timber in national development and industries.—F. S.

WHAT IS THE LAW IN THE CASE?
Some serious complications have arisen over the state's most stupendous raffle and lottery which took place at Chippewa Falls when a hotel worth some $200,000 was put up as the gambling stake. However, the hotel property was burdened with $160,000 of debt in the form of liens.

IF WAR SHOULD COME AGAIN
By FREDERICK J. HASLIN
Washington, D. C.—If the great powers of the world decide finally to continue building up their navies and armies, development of weapons of war to an appallingly destructive point is certain in the next war waged between powerful countries. If we disregard the question of disarmament now agitating the leading nations it may be taken as a maxim of history, that weapons of offense, in wartime as well as in times of peace, are developed at a faster pace than the defensive weapons to combat them can be devised. In time of war the nation developing a new offensive weapon will guard its secrets with the greatest zeal so that its use will prove a disastrous surprise to an enemy. Naturally it requires time to work out proper defensive measures.
The World war demonstrated this maxim of warfare many times. The first Canadian troops against whom the Germans used gas were slain by thousands because the means of combating gas had not been perfected. The gas mask reduced the effectiveness of the gas weapon, but its perfection lagged behind the development of the offensive gas weapon.

The bow and arrow in ancient times was a powerful weapon of war until shields and helmets of a sort were made. The sword and lance forced the development of mail armor and shields as protective measures. As big guns were developed, stouter forts and heavier armor plating for battleships followed.
The submarine used by the Germans in the late war wreaked greater havoc in the beginning than after defensive measures were developed to combat it. Those measures were of various sorts. Camouflage of merchant ships, arming them with mines, and the depth bomb greatly reduced losses due to submarines. One of the most effective schemes in reducing these losses was credited to Thomas A. Edison. It is reported that he made a map, noting on it the exact position and time where all ships were sunk by submarines, and by merely changing sailing times so that ships passed through the thickly infested spots under cover of darkness, merchant ship losses were still further reduced. Another curious, but presumably effective weapon was the policy adopted by the allies of not letting it be known whenever a German submarine was destroyed or captured. This was done with the intention of working on the nerves of the officers and crews of other submarines and destroying their confidence in their underwater craft.

Aircraft was the greatest development, or the beginning of the greatest modern offensive weapon of warfare, according to the belief of many army and navy experts. This weapon has an advantage in mobility greater than any ever devised, and defensive measures lagged behind as usual. The anti-aircraft gun was perfected but the development of the offensive aircraft to the point of greatest efficiency is going forward now. In times of peace, more rapidly, perhaps, than during the war.
The main defense worked out thus far against aircraft is other aircraft. Anti-aircraft guns, particularly on shore, are looked upon as secondary because they cannot keep pace with the flying attack, and must be considered as stationary. The element of surprise in airplane attack renders it impossible to be prepared to meet aircraft with anti-aircraft guns at any particular point. The gun is more important as a defensive weapon for vessels than on shore, as the gun carried with the object of attack all the time. The air space which an attacking plane must occupy and defend can be completely covered by an aerial barrage of high-explosive shells, experts of the navy say, and this may render battleships practically immune from air attacks, particularly if pursuit planes are used also to chase and bring down the enemy bombers.

It is the view of many naval experts and students of the question that the capital fighting ship—the superdreadnaught and the battle cruiser—will continue as the main unit of sea warfare. As destroyers are utilized as a screen against submarine attack, and as heavy armor is carried as protection against mines and air-borne guns, the capital ship will protect this fighting unit of the sea. This will continue, it is believed, as long as warfare lasts and while the commerce of the world is borne upon the surface of the sea.
While fighting ships can be protected against aerial attack by proper development of a nation's own air forces, it is conceivable that in another great war, should one occur, aircraft would wreak terrible havoc in the commercial fleets of the nations unless before that war certain nations develop some adequate defense from air attacks for their commerce bearers.

Recently newspapers published reports of the development of a gun which would hurl a projectile weighing many tons a distance of from 200 to 500 miles. Naturally, such a weapon would be practically useless against ships at sea, as they are far and away beyond the horizon and beyond the reach of spectators in observing planes. Add to this the fact that a flying target would be always on the move, and the uselessness of the big guns against navies becomes more apparent.

The "seventy-five-mile gun" with which Paris was bombarded did not do a great deal of damage from a military point of view, but it did demonstrate to artillerymen all over the world that it was possible to shoot a gun of tremendous range with accuracy, and that further development of the weapon would render it more useful as a destructive agent in the future, if warfare is to continue. The explosive shell used in the long range German gun was a mere pin prick in comparison with the destruction which the new gun now talked-of would accomplish. Hurling a high explosive shell hundreds of miles into enemy territory, and demolishing everything for a long distance around the point of explosion, it would be a truly awful attacking weapon. No sort of armament to withstand such gunfire could be effective.

There is little doubt that the proposed new gun could be made accurate. Many accurate shots have been obtained with the big guns now in use, including the indirect firing guns, or mortars. The charge which propels the projectile is measured almost to the last grain of powder. So well is this science perfected that in target practice at sea, when two big guns are fired, sometimes only one splash will result when the two projectiles hit the sea at exactly the same point and at precisely the same fraction of a second.

It was to clear away these liens that the raffle was started. It was hoped to sell some $400,000 worth of tickets but only about $100,000 was sold and the overhead was some thousands of dollars. Fifty men were able to get the right, or as they now look at it, the wrong tickets for when they were awarded the hotel they found they were fifty men with an elephant on their hands. Each was called upon to put up more than a thousand dollars in order to hold the hotel, pay the deficit, and keep it from being sold to satisfy the liens. Forty-two of them refused at once. They were willing to give-up the chance they had for owning a hotel.
But another serious complication has arisen and that is whether the title to be transferred is legal under the state law and the opinion of Attorney General Morgan. One more of the evils out of the Pandora's box is the obligation of those who conducted the lottery to the losers. Can they demand and get their money back? It would so appear under the opinion of the attorney general.

ADVICE AND AID.
I met him on the highway and his plight was sad to see. His clothes were stained and dusty and as shabby as his could be.
Says he: "I need assistance and I'm asking it from you."
To which I glibly answered: "Friend, I'll tell you what to do."

Running true to common custom, I began to work my chin.
Saying: "Put yourself together and some day you'll surely win.
Find a job and work your hardest, you can conquer it if you will."
But he grinned a bit and answered: "Alas, get me, I am ill."
"I am sick and I am weary and I haven't got the pils."
Of the choicest sort of dinner. I'm not hungry for advice.

Who's Who Today
GOV. LEN SMALL.
Gov. Len Small of Illinois, who has just been elected to a second term of office as state treasurer, was born on a farm near Kankakee, Ill., on June 16, 1862, the son of Dr. A. L. Small, a well known physician-farmer-land owner of the district.
He was educated in the state normal school, took a business college course, and at the age of nineteen became a country school teacher. But the call of the farm was strong within him, and he was soon working on his father's place. He was paid $200 he had saved from his labors as a teacher on sixteen acres of land and went farming.
He has always kept himself identified with agriculture, calling himself always a "practical farmer." His original sixteen acres have grown to 700 acres of the choicest land in the state.
Although he is president of the First National bank of Kankakee, a holder of stock in many ventures and a newspaper, Gov. Small has always kept himself proudly as a "plain farmer," and still lists himself so.

After purchasing his little sixteen acre tract Small became known as a hard working farmer. He added slowly to his holdings and at the age of thirty-one he had 100 acres. He was then married to Miss Ida Moore, daughter of a neighboring farmer.
All that that is of record of his early years is that he worked hard on his farm and manifestly a growing bent for business and politics.
He began his political career in a modest way in 1890, when he was elected supervisor. In 1892 he was elected clerk of the circuit court and it was in this same year that he was first heard of in state politics. His identification with state politics came about in this way: Curtis, the late Senator, Ed. "Cummer" Cook, brother of Vernon S. Curtis, who was indicted with Gov. Small, was elected speaker of the fourth general assembly in 1896. He immediately demanded the appointment of a committee to investigate the case of Len Small, and the appointment was made and Small was elected president of the board of trustees of the institution.
In 1902, when Small had been head of the asylum six years, an investigation of the conditions there was demanded and made, but no records exist as to just what the outcome of this investigation was.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS
The Wet Mean Business.
This is taken from a press report of the wet parade in New York:
Some of the humorists urged people to take the parade and the sentiment it represented with seriousness, explaining that the marchers wanted the eighteenth amendment repealed and the Volstead act "liberalized." They said, "Remember, that they were going to fight for that cause."
The people should heed this request. All such demonstrations deserve to be taken seriously. The men who organize them are serious, and have a serious view of the situation.
The repeal of the eighteenth amendment would mean the reenthronement of booze, the reopening of the saloon owners and keepers and the reopening for the most part of the old drink traffic interests. And presently again we should see those interests turning the cities and towns and with too much to say again about the States and the cities of the United States.
Not should it be forgotten that those interests are in charge of very competent men—men versed in politics as well as in business, and advised by some of the leading lawyers of the country. They know what they want and how to get it, and they are going after this thing with all the skill, they possess and all the power they can command.
As is plain enough, the foundations for next year's congressional campaign are now being laid, and the cry, with too long a notice, will probably not be caught asleep at the switch.—Washington Star.

THE PERILS OF A VACATION (5)
Besides being bitten by mosquitoes, and stung by flies, chased by cows, and bitten by dogs, the vacationist is often victim of the deer, or on trees. They come with ivy, infected by drinking polluted water and perhaps, ferocious attacks by a wild rabbit, there's the danger of being bitten by a snake while on a vacation.
Venomous snakes (rattle-snake, copperhead, moccasin) in this country are pit-vipers, that is, they have a depression on the face on each side of the eye and the nostril, have triangular heads, with wide, massive jaws (great muscular development of the jaws), elliptical pupils, and bodies comparatively thick in proportion to length. Harmless snakes have round heads, no pits, round pupils, and bodies comparatively slender. Harmless snakes should never be killed. They are perfectly thick in proportion to length. The poisonous snakes have two fangs attached to the upper jaw, and hinged so that the readiness of being bitten by a snake is not a matter of chance. They are erect to point downward and slightly forward when the snake is angered. Besides the venom, or poison is injected from the venom sacs into the wound, on the principle of the hypodermic needle. A snake can strike something less than his own length, never more than his own length.
Snake bites are by no means so frequently fatal as popularly imagined. Only rarely is the outcome of a bite fatal to a human being. The venom is a paralyzant in effect on the nervous system, used by a sluggish reptile in securing prey. If the snake has already bitten and acted in a few hours, the second bite is likely to prove almost innocuous, for it takes many hours to reproduce venom once the poison sacs have been emptied.
The pain is felt by the victim of a snake bite, at least not until the swelling of the part begins. After a few hours in severe cases the patient becomes cold, sweating, faintness and labored breathing develop, and

CITY LABORERS MAY GET WAGE CUT

Finance Committee to Probe Street Dept. Salaries—25 Pct. Cut Suggested.

Janesville today is paying peak prices for all the work that is being done by the street department, Ald. A. J. Gibbons, sixth ward, declared at the council meeting Monday night in calling attention to the need of looking into and re-vamping the schedule of wages for city employees. "We all know prices are coming down and it seems to me the city would do well to cut its wage scale from 25 to 20 per cent. I notice wages here ranging from $4 to $7 per day."

Alderman Gibbons' resolution ordering the city committee to investigate and report back August 5 was then passed unanimously. "We are hearing a good deal of talk of economy these days," stated Alderman Gibbons, "and I think it is high time the city looked into this matter."

"I don't see where we are paying too much," declared Alderman J. E. Horn. "There is one man drawing $7 a day and he is the man who runs the steam roller and he gets paid for running an engine all day."

The city is paying approximately $7,000 per month to the 30 to 40 employees of the street department, according to the salary report of the
